

Where did these recipes come from?

Most of the initial set of recipes are my personal creations, originally published for our local mycological club's newsletter. Others have come from open-source archives on the Internet. To the best of our knowledge, all the recipes are not protected by copyright and available for public use. Please contact us if you have concerns about ownership of a given recipe.

This site will grow with your participation. Please register and add your favorite recipes or request recipes.